

2 in 5 young people said they had experienced violence in the workplace in the past year

---

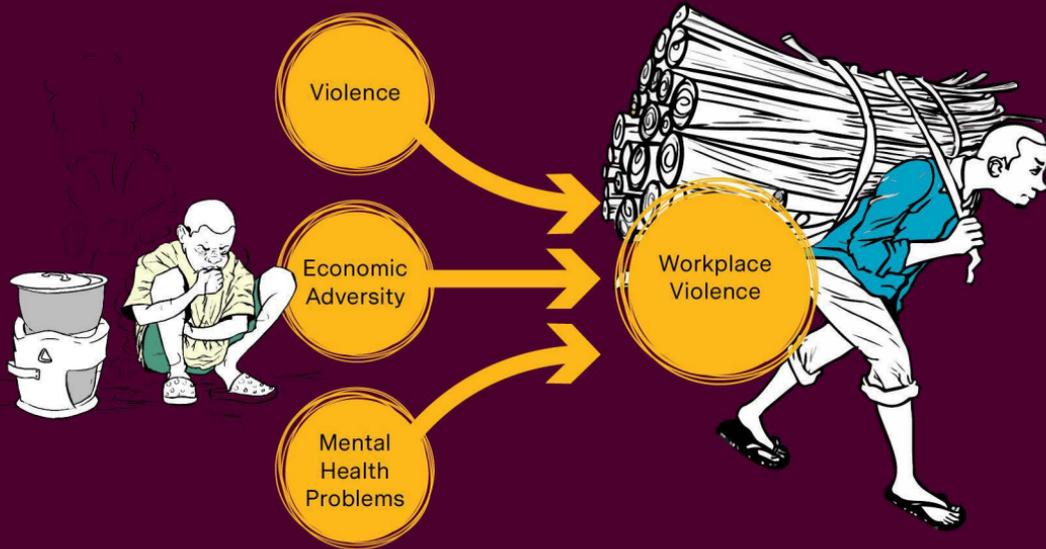

January 2023

Workplace violence is high in all sectors especially for female domestic workers

January 2023

People who experience vulnerabilities in early life are more likely to experience later workplace violence

January 2023

Those who experience violence in childhood are more likely to have poorer work outcomes

Definition of decent work: Paid work with individuals working less than 9 hours on average a day and experiencing no workplace violence

January 2023

Important gender differences exist for work

Girls are more likely to be out of work, education and training than boys

Boys and girls work in different sectors, with boys more likely to be in hazardous work

There are different relationships between childhood violence and decent work

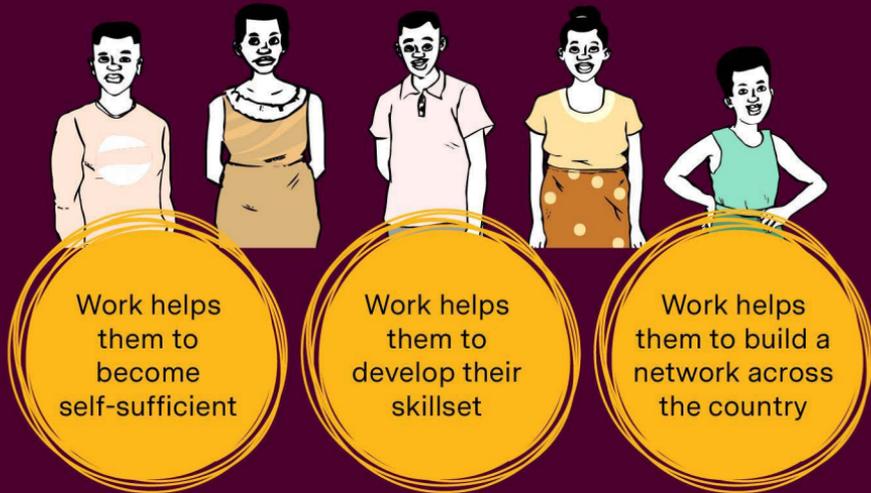

For boys, those who are more connected to their family and peers are more likely to be in decent work

January 2023

Many young people feel that a positive work environment can support their development

---

Interventions in the workplace are need to challenge social norms and promote positive work environments

January 2023